Series Descriptions

Series 001: Enrollment Data
Date Range: 1898-1990
Quantity: 8.33 LF

Creator: DePaul University

History: Reporting mode changed over the years. By the 1930's, a systematic output from each department was implemented and remained intact until the early 1960's. By the 1960's, reports were computer generated, and at the same time, different types of statistical information was reported. The statistics during the 1960's started appearing as one cohesive report that was generated by a single department in the administration. Previous statistics were generated from each specific school and brought together by the administration. The material from the 1960's is less bulky than previous years due to the University's change in preparation, and what was emphasized in those statistics.

Scope: This series is relatively complete, but small portions are missing which usually entails one missing school from a specific quarter. However, a few dates are missing such as statistics from 1899-1915; Spring Quarters of 1961/1962, 1962/1963, 1963/1964, 1964/1965 and 1965/1966 (it is not clear if the University ever published these statistics at all); Winter Quarter of 1969/1970; and Spring Quarter of 1978/1979.Beginning in 1986 (box 17), all general offices under enrollment have been included with the statistics. The statistics are stored in 24 boxes that include three oversized boxes containing class rankings, faculty and student load reports and Hispanic enrollment statistics. These oversized boxes are shelved at the end of the collection. Some of the collection was originally arranged by Barth Zurkammer, and this material was later refined by Larry Klann in August of 1989.

Arrangement: All materials have been arranged alphabetically in accordance with the university's own outline by school, year and quarter.
